The news papers also helped in spreading awareness about the extreme measures taken by the colonial government which further in cited protests and revolutionary acts against the British. In short, the press kept the fires of the Indian independence movement alive despite British efforts to do use it.

The women's movement in pre-independent India has been often called the first wave feminism. In this phase, women blamed tradition and religion for their suffering and sought redress in education and legal change. They were feminists in the sense that they recognized women as that they recognized women as oppressed because of their sex.

Theme of the Seminar:

Biodiversity and ecosystem services are central to sustaining life on Earth and play an important role in achieving sustainable development in its three dimensions: Economic, Social and Environmental. India, a mega diverse country with only 2.4% of world's land area harbors 7.8% of all recorded species. But with 17% of world's population and 16% of global livestock population, India faces severe pressure on land. We need to address this issue of resources versus human pressure on affecting the biodiversity. In this context, this seminar will open a scientific dimension of communication and exchange of experiences between researchers in the fields of biology and social sciences, especially those involved in the areas of biodiversity. This scientific meeting will be an opportunity for teacher-researchers, students of undergraduate and post graduate classes to expose themselves and update the state of knowledge and research, exchange their experiences in this field of biodiversity conservation.

Scope of the webinar

It gives you financial assistance for your losses and damage. The basic function of all types of insurance coverage is to provide damage control to the insured by bringing in a lot of people who pay to cover their risks. The fund is further used for capital formation through investment in the markets.

India's insurance industry is one of the premium sectors experiencing upward growth. This upward growth of the insurance industry can be attributed to growing incomes and increasing awareness in the industry. India is the 9th largest life insurance market in the world's emerging insurance markets, growing at a rate of 32-34% each year. In recent years the industry has been experiencing fierce competition among its peers which has led to new and innovative products within the industry. Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) in the industry under the automatic method is allowed up to 26% and licensing of the industry is monitored by the insurance regulator the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI).

The insurance industry of India has 57 insurance companies - 24 are in the life insurance business, while 34 are non-life insurers. Among the life insurers, Life Insurance Corporation (LIC) is the sole public sector company. There are six public sector insurers in the non-life insurance segment. In addition to these, there is a sole national re-insurer, namely General Insurance Corporation of India (GIC Re). Other stakeholders in the Indian insurance market include agents (individual and corporate), brokers, surveyors and third party administrators servicing health insurance claims.

Theme of the Seminar:-

Biodiversity and ecosystem services are central to sustaining life on Earth and play an important role in achieving sustainable development in its three dimensions- Economic, Social and Environmental. India, a mega diverse country with only 2.4% of world's land area harbors 7-8% of all recorded species. But with 17% of world's population and 18% of global livestock population, India faces severe pressure on land. We need to address this issue of resources versus human pressure on affecting the biodiversity. In this context, this seminar will open a scientific dimension of communication and exchange of experiences between researchers in the fields of biology and social sciences, especially those involved in the areas of biodiversity. This scientific meeting will be an opportunity for teacher-researchers, students of undergraduate and post graduate classes to expose themselves and update the state of knowledge and research, exchange their experiences in this field of biodiversity conservation.

PERSPECTIVES IN BIODIVERSITY CONSERVATION

The present world, a product of millions of years of evolution is passing through the most critical changes in geological history causing grave and irreparable damage to the earth. The current global crisis is primarily attributed to the increase of greenhouse gases especially CO₂ in our atmosphere, caused by human activities particularly through burning of fossil fuels, deforestation and agriculture.

Biodiversity, the totality of species, genes and ecosystems underpins all ecosystem goods and services responsible for providing food and water, buffering the impacts of climate change, controlling the outbreak of diseases and supporting nutrient cycling. Every biodiversity element has an intrinsic value, irrespective of human knowledge on its utility, needs and interests. Although estimated numbers of species around the world are about 8.7 million, currently about 2.0 million were on record. Worldwide destruction of the natural environment has led to a tremendous loss of biological diversity over the past few decades. Climate change has led to phenological shifts in flowering plants and insect pollinators, causing mismatches between plant and pollinator populations that lead to the extinctions of both the plant and the pollinator.

The strategies for conserving species in the context of climate change should primarily focus on human attitude towards biodiversity and need a paradigm shift in people's perspective on environmental resources. To achieve effective conservation, a wide range of stakeholders-government, private sector, non-governmental organisations (NGOs), politicians, general public, communities and media have to integrate to create changes in values, attitudes, knowledge, policy, procedures and behaviours towards environment.

My presentation for this seminar focuses on the dynamics of biodiversity conservation from global to local level and our team contribution in conservation activity.

OBSERVATIONS ON THREE YEAR OLD MIYAWAKI PLANTATION OF SRI KRISHNADEVARAYA UNIVERSITY, ANANTHAPURAMU

Bullu Dora & B. Ravi Prasad Rao

Department of Botany, S.K. University, Ananthapuramu 515003

Miyawaki Afforestation method developed by Akira Miyawaki, a Japanese environmentalist is aimed to restore native forests from seeds of native trees on much degraded soils which were barren, deforested and without humus. The Miyawaki method of reconstitution of 'indigenous forests by indigenous trees' produces a rich, dense and efficient protective pioneer forest in 20-30 years, which in natural conditions may take 300 years. Key steps in Miyawaki Afforestation are: digging the soil in usually one acre area for about 2 feet and lifted out the site and added with native fresh soil to fill the pits; adding and spread out coco-peat, vermicomposting, sprayed with cow urine and thoroughly mix; selected native species, collected from different sources were planted at a distance of 0.5-1m and whole be covered with hay and connected with drip irrigation from a tube-well. S.K. University Miyawaki Afforestation Plot, sponsored and supported by Andhra Pradesh Greening and Beautification Corporation, Vijayawada is of 4000 m² (≈1 acre) area and started on November 16, 2019. Currently, the plantation is diversified with 157 native species-128 trees, 22 shrubs, 4 climbers; 3 Cycads with natural herbaceous ground cover.

SCOPE OF WEBINAR

The key inherited growing topic "functional chemistry materials" in various disciplines like water, waste water, renewable energy research, and pollution controls. It can be used to enhance the functionalities of the materials in increasing the water in fluxes in membrane filtration enhancing the transports of proteins in proton exchange membrane for fuel cell applications increasing the yields of products in catalytic reactions, minimizing the discharges of harmful contaminants to the environment etc

About the College

The Government Degree College, Pattikonda, Kurnool Dist. was established with an initial strength of 88 students with B.A., & B.Com courses in 1988 in Government Junior college. Since its inception, it has been striving hard to impart quality and job oriented education to the students of socially and economically backward area of Kurnool district. With the unstinted efforts of Sri. S.V.Subba Reddy Garu, the then agriculture Minister, the foundation stone laid for the construction of new building. This degree college was shifted to new buildings constructed in 6.4 acres of land in 1996, inaugurated by Sri S.V.Subba Reddy Garu. Having got its own buildings, B.Sc (MPC & BZC) courses were introduced in 1997. Need based courses such as B.Sc., (Computer Science) & B.Com (Computer Applications) were introduced in 2003 and 2011 respectively to make our stake holders to take advantage of the global employment opportunities.

Research Areas

Polymer based carrier for separation and bio medical applications:

In this area, my lab is focused on the development of various natural polymer matrices and their composites with metal and metal oxide especially in the form of films, micro and nanoparticles. These developed film shape matrices were tested for their ability in separating aqueous azeotropic mixtures using membrane based pervaporation technique. Polymer and composite fabricated in the form of beads, gels, and particles were used as carrier in delivering various drugs and bio molecules. In addition, composite materials were also tested for their catalytic and anti microbial activity.

CNT based dye sensitized solar cells:

We are focused on developing CNT based photoanode materials for use in the dye sensitized solar cells using ruthenium based dyes. Further, we are working on using various polymeric materials as contiguous phase in bring the developed semiconductor photoanode compiste together in the form of film using doctor blade method.

The high demand in functional materials has led to development of functionalized materials through sustainable chemistry which is beneficial for economic and environmental perspectives

Now a days a special issue to aims to address the development and application of functional materials with promising performance using sustainable raw materials with wide availability. More over the integration green synthesis and their progress in producing functional materials for various applications are greatly welcome

About the College

The Government Degree College, Pattikonda, Kurnool Dist. was established with an initial strength of 88 students with B.A., & B.Com courses in 1988 in Government Junior college. Since its inception, it has been striving hard to impart quality and job oriented education to the students of socially and economically backward area of Kurnool district. With the unstinted efforts of Sri. S.V.Subba Reddy Garu, the then agriculture Minister, the foundation stone laid for the construction of new building. This degree college was shifted to new buildings constructed in 6.3 acres of land in 1996, inaugurated by Sri S.V.Subba Reddy Garu. Having got its own buildings, B.Sc (MPC & BZC) courses were introduced in 1997. Need based courses such as B.Sc., (Computer Science) & B.Com (Computer Applications) were introduced in 2003 and 2011 respectively to make our stake holders to take advantage of the global employment opportunities.

E-certificate will be awarded to those who successfully submitted feedback

Scope of Webinar

The news papers also helped in spreading awareness about the extreme measures taken by the colonial government which further in cited protests and revolutionary acts against the British. In short, the press kept the fires of the Indian independence movement alive despite British efforts to do use it.

The women's movement in pre-independent India has been often called the first ware feminism. In this phase, women blamed tradition and religion for their suffering and sought redress in education and legal change. They were feminists in the sense that they recognized women as that they recognized women as oppressed because of their sex.

Report

The news papers also helped in spreading awareness about the extreme measures taken by the colonial government which further incited protests and revolutionary acts against the British. In short, the press kept the fires of the Indian independence movement alive despite British efforts to do use it.

The women's movement in pre-independent India has been often called the first wave feminism. In this phase, women blamed tradition and religion for their suffering and sought redress in education and legal change. They were feminists in the sense that they recognized women as that they recognized women as oppressed because of their sex.

We are very fortunate and grateful to the speakers for accepting our invitation and becoming chief guests of today's webinar. I guarantee, your next few hours will be delightful and memorable. Thank you for being a patient audience and hearing my thoughts.

About the College

The Government Degree College, Pattikonda, Kurnool Dist. was established with an initial strength of 88 students with B.A. & B.Com courses in 1988 in Government Junior college. Since its inception, it has been striving hard to impart quality and job oriented education to the students of socially and economically backward area of Kurnool district. With the unstinted efforts of Sri. S.V.Subba Reddy Garu, the then agriculture Minister, the foundation stone laid for the construction of new building. This degree college was shifted to new buildings constructed in 6.4 acres of land in 1996, inaugurated by Sri S.V.Subba Reddy Garu. Having got its own buildings, B.Sc (MPC & BZC) courses were introduced in 1997. Need based courses such as B.Sc., (Computer Science) & B.Com (Computer Applications) were introduced in 2003 and 2011 respectively to make our stake holders to take advantage of the global employment opportunities.

Scope of the webinar

It gives you financial assistance for your losses and damage. The basic function of all types of insurance coverage's is to provide damage control to the insured by bringing in a lot of people who pay to cover their risks. The fund is further used for capital formation through investment in the markets.

India's Insurance Industry is one of the premium sectors experiencing upward growth. This upward growth of the insurance industry can be attributed to growing incomes and increasing awareness in the industry. India is the fifth largest life insurance market in the world's emerging insurance markets, growing at a rate of 32-34% each year. In recent years the industry has been experiencing fierce competition among its peers which has led to new and innovative products within the industry. Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) in the industry under the automatic method is allowed up to 26% and licensing of the industry is monitored by the Insurance regulator the Insurance Regulatory and Development Authority of India (IRDAI).

The insurance industry of India has 57 insurance companies - 24 are in the life insurance business, while 34 are non-life insurers. Among the life insurers, Life Insurance Corporation (LIC) is the sole public sector company. There are six public sector insurers in the non-life insurance segment. In addition to these, there is a sole national re-insurer, namely General Insurance Corporation of India (GIC Re). Other stakeholders in the Indian insurance market include agents (individual and corporate), brokers, surveyors and third party administrators servicing health insurance claims.
